It's Getting So Atmospheric – Discover the wide blue yonder inspired by the sublimity of Gravity with an accompanying fully orchestrated score composed by Mikolaj Stroinski (The Witcher 3, The Vanishing of Ethan Carter, Sniper Ghost Warrior 3). I Looking at YouTube videos, I would like to play Detached with VR goggles, but I do not have them. Can't recommend this if you don't have VR Instead of enjoying the game, you'll be wrestling with the horrible control scheme to perform even the simplest of tasks (like moving through a corridor) and if you have motion sickness then have a barf bag ready b/c you'll be projectile vomiting after about 5 minutes. I really enjoy 6DOF games, whenever I have a chance I try to play any proposition from that genre. Not without it's flaws (the control scheme is weird, it shows that it is really meant to be played on VR) and I wish there were more people in the multiplayer (fingers crossed, the game was released recently, so there's a chance). To make up for it, it almost has zero vertical thrust authority, so replacing the misguided keybind by trying to use mouse control isn't working either.
